MISS ELAINE R. OWENS

Dear Miss Owens,

Since you haven't known us so very long, we thought perhaps you would like a little insight into our history as a class before you came here.

To begin with, there were eighty of us. That was in 1946, when we were in the eighth grade. Many of us you see now came into high school that year, rather sure that there had never been another class like us. There was Miss Shelton, who broke under the strain of trying to discipline us, and Mr. Goldstein, who managed to finish out the year, although he was happy to leave. The time Mrs. Hockaday, another of our teachers, will long remember, was the day Jack, Bobby, and Jimmy (who has since left school) threw beans and then were forced to do some picking up.

Our second year, we were really in high school. Of course we had to get through initiation, but that was fun. Imagine Bobby carrying a doll in his arms all day, or picture any of us getting down on our knees and saying "Praise Allah" three times to every senior we met! After this humiliation was over, we began to feel like part of the set-up, and our old ego returned with interest.

As sophomores we began to shine. Our homeroom team won the intramural basketball championship. Back in those days Jeff didn't even play second string on the Varsity squad, but in the intramurals he couldn't be stopped. Jean and Sue came that year. We were especially glad to have them, having lost some of the people with us originally.

Two other important events made headlines: several of us were taken into the Beta Club, a great honor, and Lois had the leading role in a play called "Growing Pains."

Of course you were with us our junior and senior years, but it won't hurt to refresh your memory on the most important events. We had a good basketball team, and then there were the S.C.A. campaign and elections. Remember how hard Frank and Jack worked to pull in votes?

Then there was the business of the junior-senior prom and the heart that broke at four in the afternoon, when everyone's temper was as tired as his back; but the decorations finally turned out all right. That year is also memorable because Johnny came, bringing the finishing touch to a rapidly developing basketball team. You tore your hair because we couldn't seem to be persuaded to pay class dues.

You probably accepted the position of senior sponsor with misgiving, since it meant sponsoring us. We really accomplished wonders our last year, though. We've done well in all sports, especially basketball, where we were Group II, District II champions. Brent was named Athlete of the Year, both by a Richmond newspaper and the school. Joyce, Betty, Mary, and Dinnie added some glamour to sports through cheerleading, and Mary led the scoring in girls' basketball.

Our play was quite successful. You'll probably laugh many times over funny things like rehearsal of the last part of the third act, or Ann's teaching Jack to do push-ups on stage. We had fun working because it really was all play. (No pun intended)

That just about brings us up to date. Of course we couldn't possibly write all the little things and even some of the bigger ones we remember and would like for you to, but a letter can be just so long.

Thursday we're leaving Varina together, all headed in different directions. We hope to see you again and find you prospering, as we hope to do. Good luck to you, and thanks for all the efforts you've made in our behalf. We appreciate everything all the teachers have done. Please thank them for us. We wish the very best for you and for them.

Sincerely,
Your Senior Class

The Mark of A Champion . . .

When a young man can face the business world with the same undaunted courage that he bucks the line in football, and can take the bumps that inevitably will come to him in business, and can keep his fighting spirit and keep smiling---then he has the mark of a champion. The world needs young men like this and the world will make way for them. The life insurance business needs such men; so why not prepare yourself for a career in the life insurance business? It's a business of opportunity for young men of ambition and vision.
